School Tax Limit OKed by 7 Votes

Bush, Brown Win Seats on Board

The new elementary school tax limit of $1.95 squeaked through by seven votes Tuesday as a total of 1,449 Sierra Madreans went to the polls, including absentees.

Elected to two vacancies on the Board of Education were the incumbent and Board president, Kenneth Bush, and Claude Brown Jr. Both won handily.

The total vote for the tax limit was 728 yes, 721, no. There were 13 absentee ballots which were counted yesterday morning by the County Division of Elections. The unofficial absentee vote was nine, no, and four, yes.

Mr. Bush, who said he was "extremely gratified" at the results of the election, added that "although the contest was close, the final tally indicates that the people of Sierra Madre are prepared to move ahead in the field of education."

He pointed out that the district may not have to set the new tax rate at the limit permitted. Thus, taxes may be lower than the $1.95 approved by the voters.

In a brief statement to the Sierra Madre News, Mr. Brown said:

"I'm gratified at the results of the tax election. We will now have something to work with to build a better school system. In addition, I certainly appreciate the fine work done by my friends and supporters."

In other school elections reported yesterday morning, it appeared that a proposal to raise the school tax limit by 50 cents in Antelope Valley had been rejected.

Voters of the Walnut School District turned down a bond issue and state aid proposition. In Whittier, however, the $7 million Union High School bond issue passed.

Elected to the School Board in the Arcadia Unified District were Harold C. Lietz, the incumbent, and Robert I. Boyd.

Canyon Man Dies In Crash

A Sierra Madre man was killed Sunday and two Monrovia youths were critically injured in an automobile accident on the San Bernardino Freeway.

Dead is Steven G. Harney, 22, of Woodland Dr., Sierra Madre. In critical condition in General Hospital are Edward Lyon, 20, of 631 1/2 Norumbega Avenue, and Bruce Miller, 19, of 101 W. Hillcrest Blvd., both of Monrovia.

Police said a sports car the trio was riding in shot through a railing of a freeway overpass, dropped 20 feet and landed on its top on New Ave.

Harney died in the hospital several hours after the accident.

California Highway Patrol officers said they had not been able to determine who was driving.

School Music Festival Set Tonight at 7:30

The Sierra Madre School District Music Festival will be presented at 7:30 o'clock, tonight (May 21) in the Sierra Madre School Auditorium.

Vocal and instrumental groups from both schools will participate under the direction of Leonard Burwell, music teacher. The public is invited without charge.

Library Tea To Honor Fund Donors

A tea honoring the donors to the Martha Caroline Pritchard Memorial Fund will be held in the Community Room of the Sierra Madre Public Library Sunday afternoon, May 24, from 3-5 o'clock.

A display of children's books purchased from the fund has been arranged by the library staff. Another display of books from Miss Pritchard's personal collection has been placed in the Community Room. The later group is from a gift of some 200 titles presented to the library by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Pritchard Jr. of Berkeley.

In addition to the donors, the guest list includes the families of city officials, the library board, the Executive Board of the Friends of the Library, and the faculties of the local schools.

Mrs. Helen Loomis, president of the Friends of the Library, has appointed Mrs. Kenneth Bush, social chairman, to be in charge of decorations and refreshments.

Meeting Planned In Ranch for Board Candidates

Two candidates for the Pasadena Board of Education will have an opportunity to meet residents of Hastings Ranch on May 27 in the home of Charles Cole, 1470 Riviera. The meeting will start at 8:15 p.m.

The candidates, Dr. Robert Freeman and James Stivers, both have the support of the Citizens Committee for Good Schools. Mr. Stivers, incidentally, lives in Hastings Ranch.

Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Bertram Potter are organizing the informal meeting. The election in Pasadena is June 5.

Dr. Dernelle Faces Superior Court Trial

Dr. Anthony O. Dernelle, local chiropractor who is charged with deriving support from a prostitute and with soliciting and procuring will be arraigned in Superior Court in Pasadena on June 4.

Dr. Dernelle, whose correct family name is Dranieri, was arrested in his offices at 31 S. Baldwin on May 6. He has been released on $2,000 bail.

Also arrested by members of the vice squad of the County Sheriff's Department was Miss Marlene Mae Perouty, 24, of 2017 N. Marengo, Pasadena. She is scheduled to appear in Pasadena Municipal Court today on a charge of prostitution, a misdemeanor.

First Western Plans Ready-Credit System

First Western Bank and Trust Co. will introduce a new revolving credit service on May 25, according to Mont E. McMillen, chairman of the Board and president of the statewide banking system.

Called Ready-Credit, the service will be offered throughout the bank's entire statewide system of 103 offices and will provide a constantly available loan to participants.

The new service will be offered in addition to the bank's charge account service which has been operating in the San Francisco Bay area since February.

Under the Ready-Credit plan, the bank sets aside for customer's use an amount of money which is determined by the monthly payment the customer is able to make. This amount is known as the "maximum credit."

The customer can draw against this maximum credit at any time through the use of special checks provided for the purpose. The loan is then repaid in monthly installments which rebuilds the customer's credit.

Norman Kennedy Elected Family Service Chairman

Family Service of Sierra Madre met at the Community Room of the Public Library last Thursday to hear annual reports and to elect new members to its board of directors. Mrs. Helmut Vorster, Mrs. Myrtle Heasley, and Rev. Chilton C. McPheeters were elected to the board for three-year terms.

Following the annual meeting, the board elected G. Norman Kennedy as chairman; Douglas G. Spencer, vice chairman; Mrs. Clark T. Casey, secretary, and Gordon G. MacMillan as treasurer.

Retiring members of the board are Mrs. Hortense Wells, Mrs. B. L. Watersbury, and Rev. George W. Lindsay.

Yogi Don Blyth, fire eating contortionist, will add authenticity to the Pioneer Jubilee Days June 26 and 27, sponsored by the Sierra Madre Lions Club.

Blyth, feature attraction of the celebration will chew and swallow glass, devour flaming touches, lie on a bed of sharp nails and sew a button on his arm.

The former circus and carnival performer, billed on the East Coast as "Ripley's Believe It or Not Man," will also act as master of ceremonies at the home talent show. He is donating his services.

In addition to Blyth, the carnival will feature rides for adults and children and games of skill. The latter will be operated by local organizations and all proceeds will go to the groups sponsoring the booths.

On Saturday morning, June 27, the Kiwanis Club will hold its annual Silver Dollar Breakfast in Memorial Park, with flapjacks, sausage, coffee and milk.

There also will be a parade Saturday which is expected to attract several musical and marching units from the San Gabriel Valley. On Sunday, June 28, the local Historical Society will dedicate the Mt. Wilson plaque.

CONTEST WINNER

A contest to stimulate scientific curiosity and logical thinking, conducted by the physical science department of Pasadena City College, brought five winners, with Winfield I. Abbe, Sierra Madre, taking first place.

Winifred Hawkins Succumbs at 43; 12-year Resident

Mrs. Winifred Hawkins, 457 N. Lima, died yesterday morning in St. Luke Hospital following a brief illness. She was 43 years old.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today (Thursday) in St. Rita's Church, with Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Friday. Interment will be in Resurrection Cemetery, S. San Gabriel, with the Ripple Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

A native of Detroit, Mrs. Hawkins moved to Sierra Madre 12 years ago.

She is survived by her husband, J. Eugene; six children, Robert, Patricia, Michael, Timothy, Kathleen and Maureen Ann; two brothers, Harold J. Murphy and Maurice J. Murphy, both of Detroit; and two sisters, Sister Mary Evangelist, O. P. and Mrs. Mary Scully, Alhambra.

POPPY FOR THE CHIEF—Gordon MacMillan, chief of the Sierra Madre Police Department, gets pinned with a poppy to aid the Ladies Auxiliaries of the VFW and American Legion. Women from the Auxiliaries will sell poppies on Sierra Madre streets this Friday and Saturday during their annual campaign. Show, from left, are Mrs. Betty Czernik, American Legion Auxiliary poppy chairman, and Mrs. Dorothy Kennedy, president of the VFW Auxiliary. (News Photo)

CARD SHARP, in more ways than one, is Eric Borg, 300 Churchill Rd., shown here in front of a portion of his amazing display of playing cards in the Sierra Madre Library. Mr. Borg, who moved from Carmel to Sierra Madre last October, has cards from 27 nations in his collection. He also has a deck from a ship sunk in 1914, one depicting scenes of early California, and another which is the smallest in the world—20 of them will fit on one ordinary playing card. Each card in a deck, said Mr. Borg, depicts certain parts of the compass, human emotions and represents, in part, all of the sciences. Mr. Borg not only collects cards, he can play almost any card game and he is also an expert in "reading" them. (News Photo)

Chamber Membership Drive Starts

The Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce has initiated its annual membership drive with a letter to residents of the city and a statement of purpose, according to Chamber President E. R. Mitchell.

In the letter, Mr. Mitchell said, in part:

"We are all proud of our numerous churches where each of us can worship as we choose, sharing a common belief in the Divine Creator. We possess a community pride in our schools; our hospital and our other fine professional medical service. Also, pride in our beautiful public library.

"We have here—in our home town—friendly stores and professional offices owned and operated by your neighbors. We believe they deserve our support."

In the statement of purpose, Mr. Mitchell said:

"A Chamber of Commerce is made up of a composite group of serious, high-minded men in the service for the good of their community — Democracy of Doers."

"This is exactly what a Chamber of Commerce is — an organized influence for the greatest good of the greatest number—the true significance of Democracy."

"A membership in a Chamber of Commerce offers an opportunity for a liberal understanding of the constructive plans and purposes of both business and professional experience, through a closer contact with a great variety of men. Therefore, a Chamber of Commerce is, in its individual acceptance, an organized influence for individual good."

Better Teacher Training

The Sierra Madre News has consistently supported local schools' officials during the past four years in their search for more money.

The need for funds to meet inflation and to handle the growing school population is obvious. Likewise, the necessity of hiring good teachers and paying them adequate salaries is plain.

Personally, I believe a teacher should have the opportunity to make as much money as any other professional man, doctor, dentist or lawyer, providing he is good enough. And there, I think, is the rub.

FOR MONEY ALONE—federal, state or local—will not help what threatens to become the worst weakness of American education in the decades ahead, the shortage of teachers and the inadequacy of those employed as teachers.

In this area, the Ford Foundation has performed outstanding service in granting more than $9 million to nine institutions of higher learning for a "break-through" in teacher training.

Our teacher trouble, the Ford program points out, stems from "the relatively poor quality of instruction for future teachers in many places, the neglect of subject matter in favor of undue concentration on teaching methods, the relative lack of attention to the importance of practice in developing the art of teaching, and the barriers presented by state teacher-certification requirements to improved educational programs."

THE WORST enemies of teachers frequently are the educationists who have a vested interest in a system which cannot stand on its own merits. To protect themselves they anchor the system in the statute book of many states and, it seems, neither Sputnik nor men from Mars can blast the system loose.

Teachers must know their subjects thoroughly. They must be experts in history, mathematics, languages and economics rather than in methodology.

Teachers, of course, must know how to teach. But it is more important that they know something worth teaching.—H.W.E.

Billion Dollar Club

Last year the number of American companies with assets of $1 billion or more rose from 91 to 96. And only a couple of decades ago the number could be counted on your fingers—probably with a couple of fingers left over.

Biggest of all is American Telephone Co. with assets close to $19½ billion. Metropolitan Life Insurance follows with $16.2 billion and third is Prudential Insurance with $14.7 billion. Bank of America with $11.3 billion is fourth, but far ahead among the banks for the top spot in that field. Standard Oil of New Jersey is in fifth place with $9.4 billion and General Motors, the biggest in the automotive field, ranks ninth.

The West Coast is well represented in the billion dollar group having Standard Oil of California, Pacific Gas & Electric Co., Southern California Edison, and four banks in addition to Bank of America—American Trust Co., Crocker-Anglo Bank, First Western Bank, and California Bank of Los Angeles.

Companies like these, incidentally are no longer owned and controlled by one or two people. Stockholders meetings are becoming huge affairs as more individuals acquire stock. Company officials are really the employees or representatives of the vast army of stockholders and are responsible to them.

This is what we call economic democracy.

Lee Shippey asks
What Do You Think?

The beauty of this column, to my point of view, is that it is uninhibited. The editor and I can write whatever I don't have to agree with it, feel like writing that day—even if I express myself in verse.

One day I was thinking about the blessings of retirement, and wrote some lines which pretty much sum up my philosophy. Here they are:

I loved to travel in my youth,
But all I saw impressed the truth
That human nature is the same
In Timbuctu and whence I came;
That there is beauty everywhere
For those who rightly see and care.
And pomp is but a fading wraith
Compared to live and simple faith.

I tried to spread myself so thin
That I could take the wide World in.
And sped past joys I never knew
While dazzled by some distant view.

But then I saw it would be wise
To shrink my world to fit my size.
For not in dreams nor distant parts
Lies Paradise, but in our hearts.

I think we would all be a lot happier if we could rightly see and care for all the beauties close at hand which we are so likely to overlook—the beauties of unselfishness, of patient courage, of the kindness of neighbors and the loyalty of friends. So many of us see beauty only where it is advertised. In Hawaii or Paris or Kew Gardens or Switzerland we look for beauty because we know we should, but the beauty of the yard next door or in the smiles of those we meet in our own home town is far more important to us. And there is beauty everywhere, if we look for it. I have been more warmly stirred by views from California mountain tops than I ever was by views in Switzerland, because the former were not only beautiful, they were ours.

STILL I am glad I did most of the traveling I have done while I was young enough to be greatly stirred by it. Travel folders used to fill my head with visions, but now I'm like the fellow who inherited $1,000,000 (except for the million). When asked if he was going to travel he replied: "What's the use. I'm already here."

Forty years ago Homer Croy and I shared a modest hotel room in Paris for about a year. Not long ago Homer toured all over Europe and wrote me from Paris, "Remember how we stood in line to get tickets to the Folies Bergere? Well, I want there again last night—and wished I had something to read."

See what I mean?

Letters to the Editor

SUPPORTS HIGH SCHOOL

Dear Sir:

As a resident and taxpayer of the City of Sierra Madre, I would like to present the following arguments in support of the conditional use permit sought by the Sisters of St. Francis to permit the establishment of a high school on the property on Michillinda and Highland.

Added parochial educational facilities rather than increasing taxes result in a decrease because the public school system is relieved of the cost of educating the pupils who go to parochial schools.

ANY OBJECTIVE evaluation will show that this results in a much greater gain to the taxpayer than the loss caused by the narrowing of the tax base. As any one familiar with public school financing knows, the public schools would operate at a much lower rate of efficiency or the tax rate would have to be raised to astronomical levels were it not for the existence of the large number of parochial and private schools in this state.

In addition to a saving in taxes, the existence of such a school should raise property values in Sierra Madre, as it is demonstrable that the existence of good schools in a community is one of the impelling reasons for a prospective buyer to purchase property in that area.

BUT MORE important than either of these reasons is that it is essential to the future of America that our children not be short changed in their educational opportunities, and encourage-ments should be given to those who, like the Sisters of St. Francis, are so unselfish.

What's Caroline E. Thayer up to these days? She's in the midst of mapping two tours to both Europe and the Holy Land, which she'll conduct this summer. An ardent Bible authority, Mrs. Thayer gave over 150 lectures last year, illustrated with colored slides taken on previous adventures. Her one-woman exchange program includes lecturing and showing pictures of the United States to audiences in Europe.

Mrs. Thayer also broadcasts a travel series, "Palestine Adventure," and lately is giving tips on how to prepare for a trip abroad, at the YWCA. For many years, Mrs. Thayer lived on Montecito, before moving to Duarte. She and her late husband, Donald Thayer (well-known baritone) traveled throughout the world before settling in Sierra Madre where they raised four daughters: Carla, Jean, Ducky and Tibby.

ONE COUPLE drove all the way out from Huntington Park to view the excellent Flamenco movie shown by the Friends of the Library—proclaimed it worth their lengthy mile and made plans to come again, saying: "Huntington Park has nothing like this!"

THIS WEEK'S phone calls: (Creature-haters skip down a couple of paragraphs): An anxious call from Evelyn Englar, 250 W. Highland, whose creeping Myrtle (an ages-old desert tortoise) suddenly laid six eggs last Friday.

"We've had Myrtle nine years and no sign of an egg until now!" (Note: Myrtle recently acquired a younger husband "Junior" in a May-December match.) Mrs. Englar is seeking information about the hatching habits of tortoise eggs as she'd like to raise Myrtle's brood (should they be buried in warm sand, or oven-warmed, or what?). At last report, platter-sized Myrtle is partly perched on the egglets (which she's tenderly covered with sand and lettuce leaves and it looks like she intends to tend to her hatching without any human interference.

RETRACTED RETRACTION. "Rattlesnakes do TOO drink water!" said the voice on the other end of the phone. "Ours not only drank water, but he curled up in the water dish (kept his head out) and soaked just before shedding his skin!" (Great snakes!—anyone care to contradict?)

THIS WEEK'S NOTES (unsigned paper towel messages left during householder's absence): "Took out beer, put in trout," and several days later "Check for knuckles in ice tray." (Turned out to be a friendly string of High Sierra trout and a pair of pickled pig's feet—yummmmm).

LANDSCAPE GARDENER Ray Tarup spent last week picking up some tropical planting pointers during an eight-day tour of Hawaii—along with 66 other Valley garden lovers. Covered quite a bit of ground on his first trip, too—Oahu, Waikiki, Hawaii and Kauai.

Mr. Tarup has a full time job keeping gardens at the Herbert Hoover Jr. estate—and his wife keeps books for Southern California Greenhouse (headed by localite Harold Spears). The Tarups have lived here since coming from Copenhagen in 1942—their son, Peter, is an education major at the University of Oregon.

SEATTLE SOJOURN. Pede and Sylvia Pederson are pointing their automobile toward Yreka (en route to Seattle) for several days with Mrs. Pederson's daughter, Sylvia Colbert Guardia, and family.

ANOTHER SIERRA Madren flying to and from Hawaii this week is Isabelle Burns of the Wistaria Beauty Shop. During her eight-day jaunt, Mrs. Burns is crowding in as much sightseeing as possible before the plane brings her back, Monday morning.

Steel Net Profits Up 100 Per Cent

By Robert G. Spivack

Washington

THE STEEL OLIGOPOLY

Intelligent and inquisitive children sometimes force a man to think, even when he is inclined to let things slide and take things easy. "What's an oligopoly, Dad?" my 11-year-old daughter insisted on knowing. "It's a small group of companies," I explained, "in control of a major industry that is supposedly competitive but is, in fact, just one step removed from being a monopoly."

She then forced me to explain what a monopoly is and we launched into a more or less serious discussion about economics, how business is run and all the related matters that to a youngster seems so mystifying.

What precipitated all this discussion was a claim by the United Steelworkers Union that its members are not as well off as U.S. Steel and apparently a large number of other citizens believe them to be.

IN THE CURRENT steel negotiations the important point the union makes (which seems to be ignored by many newspaper editors, for reasons that I will not go into) is that while wages have gone up in the industry, profits have so far outdistanced them that you can hardly mention the two items in the same breath.

The explanation by the union, and I have not seen it refuted, is that "fewer men are making more steel." Result: total labor costs have remained almost the same from 1952 to 1958. The union's economists say that of each "sales dollar" labor costs the companies 42.1 cents in 1952 and only 42.8 cents in 1958.

On the other hand "net profits" have gone up 100 per cent. The company's own reports reveal a profit of $143,678,740 in 1952 and a profit of $301,558,231 in 1958. (And the latter was a "recession" year)

HOW IS IT DONE?—I am well aware that many public officials are now urging the union to "go slow" and "take it easy" on wage demands because any substantial increase now will send up the cost of steel and contribute further to the fires of inflation. This will undoubtedly be the case unless the government is prepared to impose some restraints on the industry. And, as I read the record, it is the industry (far more than the union) which needs restraining.

We would not be caught up in this inflationary spiral, I believe, if during the Eisenhower years the President had ever urged the steel industry to control its desire for exorbitant profits.

David J. McDonald, the Steelworkers' president, sums up the profit picture this way: "How does the steel industry do it? By consistently raising prices all out of proportion to the wage increase granted to the Steelworkers. Here is the record. Since 1946 for every dollar of wage increase the steel industry has boosted prices $3."

COMMON SENSE ABOUT HOUSING—For a country that prides itself on listening to new ideas I sometimes get the feeling that a man must stand on his head on the Capitol steps to get a really important story into the newspapers. Such was the case with recent testimony by Charles Abrams, the housing expert who appeared before the Sparkman committee.

Abrams said the federal housing credit program, as now constituted, is working largely for the benefit of "banks, mortgage lenders and the higher income families." Abrams not only was former New York State rent administrator, but he is also a very wealthy man who made a sizeable portion of his fortune in real estate. He knows whereof he speaks, but from the scant attention he got in the press you would never have known he was here.

The only way poor people can get to be home-owners is for government help, at least partially equal to that given via subsidies to the bankers. A family with an income of $4,272 could afford a $12,000 mortgage if interest rates were cut to 3 per cent and amortization ran for 35 years. It's the only way impoverished minorities, e.g. Puerto Ricans and Negroes, can ever achieve home owner ship.

Instead, Abrams said, we've got "socialism for the rich and private enterprise for the poor." Copyright 1959 Robert G. Spivack

TVA Bill Seen as Boondoggle

By Edgar W. Hiestand

Rep. 21st Dist. Calif.

The Tennessee Valley Authority "self financing" bill which just passed the House is very important in a number of ways.

The most important feature, or rather the most objectionable feature in my judgment, is that for the first time it would authorize a Federal agency, wholly owned by the taxpayers of the United States, to finance itself by the issuance and sale of revenue bonds, without any further restrictions or check by the people, as represented by their Congress or the Executive branch.

The bill provides for completely by-passing the Appropriations Committee, by-passing further action by Congress, and doesn't even allow the secretary of the treasury to approve or disapprove any kind of bond issue the bureaucrats decide to offer.

THUS IT WOULD allow unlimited expansion of TVA plants and facilities to the extent of $750 million to promote this tax free agency to spread out and increase its competition with private tax paying industries.

You have already invested far over a thousand million dollars in this power facility and TVA is supposed to pay it back over a 40-year period. This bill would limit them to repayments of $10 million a year, which would drag out total repayment over at least 120 years. Furthermore, the TVA would be granted the privilege of waiving a payment or two upon their own desire, without an agreement with your government, and they could do it as many times as they wish.

Supposing I owed Uncle Sam a lot of money, but had the unilateral privilege to postpone for two years and again later on, another two years, and then again another two years, all without penalty. It would mean virtually I didn't have to pay at all. That 120 years could easily be 240 years.

THE TVA BOONDOGGLE is not a new thing. It was established years ago, May 18, 1933. "To improve the navigability and to provide for flood control of the Tennessee River; to provide for reforestation and the proper use of marginal lands; to provide for agricultural and industrial development of said Valley; and to provide for the national defense by the creation of a corporation for the operation of Govern-

It wasn't discovered until the family returned from an afternoon outing and were astounded (and nearly scalded) when the cold water taps gave off boiling water and another fixture began spitting porcelain as it spouted geysers of steam.

in the '30s would have complete license, unrestrained, to do as they please.

In the development, the building of these great dams, low cost power has done much to develop that area of the country and create prosperity, although at your expense.

Selling power at very low rates has attracted much industry from other parts of the country, but it was sold at these low prices because the producer, Uncle Sam, was tax free, and it gradually crowded out a lot of private power companies owned by the people of the various communities, who were tax paying industry. Many of these people had put their life-savings into these local electric companies.

There are many other reasons why this was a very bad bill, but more than anything else of importance to me was that it set up that method of self-financing. If this bill becomes law, what is to stop any other bureau or agency from pressuring Congress for a similar privilege and thereby operating without restraint or supervision of the people, or their elected representatives?

WE HAVE MANY of these great government owned bureaucracies and it's hard enough to hold them in line with the power of the peoples purse, but without it, they are socialism in the raw. In other words, it opens up a great gap through which the bureaucrats who started to run this government back

Sister Irmina Celebrates Silver Jubilee

A solemn tribute was paid recently to Sister M. Irmina of St. Francis Order, in celebration of her silver jubilee. The High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Thomas O'Malley. The Gregorian Mass was chanted by Sisters of St. Francis of St. Rita's School. Mass was attended by parishioners and 60 guests of Sister Irmina, all Sisters of St. Francis order, and 13 members of her family.

The altar was banked in an array of white flowers, intermingled with silver leaves. Sister Irmina was ushered in the church by nine young girls, attired in formals, following were two girls, one carrying a silver wreath, the other a bridal candle.

Mass was followed by luncheon in the parish hall, which was decorated in blue and silver by Anthony De Pasco.

Luncheon was served by members of St. Rita's Guild.

St. Rita's Observes Rites of May

A May coronation and procession in honor of Our Lord's Blessed Mother, Mary, was held at St. Rita's Church Sunday afternoon.

The procession was led by the altar boys followed by school children, dressed in white.

The Altar of Our Lady was banked with pink and white gladioli, pink roses and white daisies. Our Blessed Mother's floral crown consisted of small spring flowers.

May queen, Leslie Teepie, attendants, Sylvia Marchetti and Sharon Purcell; pages, Alfred Jahns, Richard Fisher, Frank Cosso and James Heck; float grade flower girls, Heeky Cortese, Maria Casso, Maxine Sidenfaden, Joan Ruggles, Teresa Stich, Carol Adams, Barbara Robertson, Marjorie Tahl and Kathleen Kromks.

Eight grade boys were the queen's guard of honor and the eighth grade girls were in the queen's court.

The procession was under the supervision of Mother

Inez, assisted by the Sisters of St. Rita's School. The ceremony was conducted by Father Thomas O'Malley who spoke on "Mary, the Mother of God." Following the ceremony was the benediction by Father Walsh.

Scientific Prayer is Extolled

The greatest force in the world is scientific prayer, Herbert E. Rieke of Indianapolis declared in a lecture here on Sunday, May 17.

True peace and freedom will be secured for mankind through spiritual and moral rather than through atomic and material progress, Mr. Rieke stated.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he described healings through wholly spiritual means of cancer, burns, and other serious conditions in his address entitled, "The Power of Prayer Revealed Through Christian Science."

Mr. Rieke spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Sierra Madre in Sierra Madre School Auditorium. He was introduced by Milton K. Spaulding, first reader of the local church.

To pray effectively, the lecturer said, it is important to gain a clear comprehension of God and of His perfect universe, including man.

Tracing the pattern of the Lord's Prayer, he pointed out that spiritual inspiration from this prayer has brought freedom and health to countless individuals throughout the years.

RECRUITMENT TEA

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League, San Gabriel Zone 7, (Missouri Synod) is planning a nurse recruitment tea for Sunday, May 24, 2:30-4 p.m. at the First Lutheran Church, 413 S. Hoyt, El Monte. The speaker is a nurse from California Lutheran Hospital.

'Thoughts Are Things' is Dr. Barnhart's Topic

"Thoughts Are Things" is the sermon topic of Dr. Ethel Barnhart of the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead Blvd., at both the 9:15 and 11 a.m. worship services, Sunday, May 24.

"Things which are seen were not made of things which do appear" (Hebrew 11:3) will be the basis for the discussion Sunday.

The Wednesday morning Bible classes held at 10:30 a.m. are growing in popularity as they are meeting a great need for spiritual unfoldment. This class conducted by Dr. Barnhart is being devoted to the promises of the Bible and how to experience them in everyday living. It includes group participation and is open to the public.

Junior Church with graded classes for children from pre-school through the eighth grade meets Sunday morning at 9:15 and 11 a.m.

Youth Fellowship for high school and college age young people, meets every Sunday evening at 7:30 under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bradshaw.

LESSON-SERMON

The relationship of soul and body, subject of discussions by thinkers throughout the centuries, will be presented Sunday, in all Christian Science Churches. The Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul and Body" is from Psalms (16:8, 9), "I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my flesh also shall rest in hope."

Shepherd of Hills Sets Church Picnic June 14

The Festival of Holy Trinity, marking the beginning of the longest season of the church year, will be celebrated at Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church at 10 a.m. Sunday, May 24.

The pastor, the Rev. Ray E. Hansen, will preach on "Climbing the Ladder." There will be a special selection offered by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Clauson.

Lutheran family night, with the Dodgers playing the San Francisco Giants, will be at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 23, at the Los Angeles Coliseum. Half of the proceeds of the baseball game will benefit the building fund of Camp Yoliwa, Lutheran camp at Oak Glen, Calif. Several cars from Shepherd of the Hills are going.

The date for Shepherd of the Hills Church picnic is set for Sunday, June 14, at Brookside Park near the Rose Bowl. An outdoor worship, picnic, games and recreation are being planned by the fellowship committee headed by Arthur Albertson.

A class of six youths was confirmed last Sunday, including Judith Doan, Ingrid Gramberg and Karl Abbe, all of Sierra Madre; Lynn Glogvick of Hastings Ranch; Michael Tumilty of Pasadena and David Horn of Arcadia.

'Ladies of Jury' Is Hilarious Comedy Satire

By Edward Voorhees

Fred Ballard's long-popular "Ladies of the Jury," hilarious comedy-satire, with serious undertones on variations of American jury practice, is this month's entertainment, directed by Lee Frost, at the Town Hall Theatre in Pasadena.

The three acts mount steadily in interest, suspense, and humor—the first act being the trial of the young Mrs. Gordon—Yvette Yvet, who is French and a former actress—charged with the murder of her elderly and wealthy husband. After the dramatic and seemingly reluctant testimony against Mrs. Gordon by her maid, the prosecution immediately rests its case; and the witnesses for the defense having failed to arrive in time to support Mrs. Gordon's statements, the case goes to the jury forthwith.

THE DELIBERATIONS in the jury room occupy the remaining two lively acts. Eleven of the 12 vote "Guilty," (orally) on the first ballot. The one vote of "not guilty" comes from Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane, who had behaved and spoken in the courtroom with startling freedom—though within her rights as a juror.

When questioned for the reasons for her vote, she says that it is "impossible" Mrs. Gordon could have killed her husband; asked how she knows, she replies that it is by "intuition" and "instinct." Later she asserts the maid's testimony was false, and tells why. She advances other evidence overlooked by the other jurors, and little by little, by her tact and her generalship, her charm and her understanding of the motivation of each juror, even more than her keen but brief analysis of bits of evidence which escaped the others, the 12th juror wins over the other 11—after two hilarious and tense nights and days in the jury room, and 124 ballots!

From the nature of the play, each of the 20 in the cast has a chance to stand out, however briefly, in the action, as a person. Among the performances memorable by length as well as by quality, are those of the two attorneys, played by Ferdinand Rocca and Jerry Compton; the maid by Ann Barlow; Mrs. Gordon by Barbara Chernis; the Judge by Eli Morgan; Lily Pratt, the juror prejudiced against the French and "all actresses," played by Ariel McMullen; and the dogged Foreman, Pressley, by David Pyle.

THE PART of Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane, protagonist of the action, is unusually rich in possibilities of personality and timing—what is known on the stage as "a natural." Its realization is achieved brilliantly by Helen Gross. Her clear-cut art makes the dissenting juror emerge as a great lady, an aristocrat in the best sense, with an unhurried poise of manner and resourcefulness in getting along with people of various types in all situations, together with a talent for keen analysis.

Wilson PTA Installs New Officers

Mrs. Charles Manning is the newly installed president of Wilson Junior High School PTA, and two Hastings Ranch residents, Mrs. Draper Jennings and Mrs. Russell Pooler, are among her vice presidents.

Mrs. Jennings is third vice president and fancee chairman, and Mrs. Pooler is serving her second year as fourth vice president and room representative chairman.

Other new officers, installed at the annual PTA luncheon last week, are Mrs. Robert Stump, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Karl Anderson, second vice president and membership chairman; Mrs. John Bolenbaugh, fifth vice president and parent education chairman; Mrs. E. O. Gne-much, sixth vice president and publicity chairman; Mrs. Robert Burkire, recording secretary; Mrs. George Collup, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arthur Westphal, treasurer, and Mrs. Lois Hartman, auditor, also serving a second term.

AIMING FOR A WIN in 500-mile classic at Indianapolis on Memorial Day is Ollie Prather, a racer he built at his Arcadia shop. Ollie is the stepson of "Pappy" Hatfield, proprietor of the Sierra Madre Paint and Body Shop.

Dream of Life Time . . .

Prather Racer Enters Qualifying Tests

A sleek racing car, built by Ollie Prather of Arcadia, will be entered in qualifying trials this weekend for the 500-mile grind at Indianapolis on Memorial Day.

Ollie, the stepson of D. Curt (Pappy) Hatfield, owner of the Sierra Madre Paint and Body Shop, has wanted to enter a racer in the Indianapolis classic since he was a young boy working on racing cars with his father.

Prather, who currently runs the Arcadia Body Shop, 326 N. First Ave., has turned the driving chores over to Bill Homier of Pacoima, who will have to average about 143 miles an hour over four laps to qualify.

"I'D LIKE to drive myself on Memorial Day," said the Arcadia auto mechanic. "But I'm too old at 40."

For the past four months, Prather and his partner, Val Alamillo, have been working daily on their "labor of love."

The car is a four-cylinder job which will turn 6200 RPM's and has a displacement of 252 cubic inches. The engine has 400 horsepower with a compression ratio of 15-to-1.

Sitting three feet high, the standard 500 roadster has its engine offset five inches to the left so the driver can sit lower without straddling the drive shaft.

A SAFETY FEATURE that Prather is especially proud of is the incorporation of two separate brake systems—four-wheel brakes and spot brakes which will serve as an alternate system in the dizzying pace that is traditional with Indianapolis.

This system will face tests of up to 200 miles an hour on the straightaway and 135 on the turns. Only 33 of 61 entries will start on race day.

Prather's entry is sponsored by the Go-Cart Co. of Azusa and, said Ollie, cost "less than the $25,000 expended for construction of the average Indianapolis entry."

All this activity is aimed at the $110,000-$125,000 top prize money and honors. Low prize money is $2,500 for the car in 33rd place, which, Prather said, "doesn't even cover minimum costs."

PRATHER'S STEPFATHER, "Pappy" Hatfield, taught Ollie the "ins and outs" of the racing business. Hatfield constructed and raced cars himself from 1918 to 1926.

Prather also started racing many years ago, both on land and water. In 1946 he won the West Coast championship in E-style racing boats, and he has won many trophies for victories in drag racing.

Audrey Smith Swim School Opens Own

Mrs. Audrey Smith, Sierra Madre swimming instructor, has opened her own school—The Audrey Smith Swim School—at 131 E. Foothill Blvd. in Arcadia.

Mrs. Smith comes to this new enterprise from 12 years

Audrey Smith of service as swim director for the Sierra Madre Chapter of the Red Cross.

Her special talents in the field have been requisitioned by governmental and social agencies. She taught survival swimming to Army and Navy personnel and adult swimming in the L.A. City Schools. In addition, she served as pool manager for the Sierra Madre Department of Recreation and as city-wide swim director for the L.A. Council of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Smith has taught synchronized swimming (water ballet) at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. She has been the producer and director of many aquatic shows at athletic clubs and the sportsman show at the Pan Pacific Auditorium.

Associated with Mrs. Smith is Mrs. Anne Uretzky, a registered nurse and water safety instructor, whose specialty is the young child. Both women also are capable of teaching swimming to the handicapped.

Local Mayor City of Hope Chairman

Mayor Charles H. James has been named local chairman of the "Hope Sunday" drive on June 7 for the City of Hope.

The appointment was announced by County Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli, honorary general chairman of the one-day, door-to-door solicitation throughout Los Angeles County and other Southland communities.

In accepting the post, Mayor James said that over 150 volunteer "Citizens of Hope" would seek contributions here to help support the three-point program of patient care, research and medical education at the free, nonsectarian medical center.

"Funds raised on June 7," he emphasized, "will help provide care, absolutely without charge, for patients suffering from cancer, the leukemias, blood, chest and operable heart disorders."

"Many of these patients are or have been residents of our own community—people we know."

Mayor James pointed out that the City of Hope accepts victims of these physically, emotionally and financially catastrophic diseases on referral from private physicians.

FRIENDSHIP LUNCHEON

The annual luncheon of the Community Friendship Club will be held on Monday, May 25, at 12:30 p.m. in the new Sierra Madre Coffee Shop.

Girl Scout Award Court Tuesday

The Girl Scout Court of awards will be conducted by Mrs. James Winslow, on Tuesday, May 26, at 7:30 p.m., at the Sierra Madre School Auditorium. Troop 527 will lead the opening flag ceremonies. The troops achieving the various ranks will be featured and will give short demonstrations or skits to illustrate the troop activities for the year. Troop 502 will also do a folk dance. Members of other troops will receive the proficiency badges which they have earned during the year. In awarding the insignias, emphasis will be placed upon the efforts involved and the achievements reached in earning their awards. Troop displays will be on exhibit in the auditorium foyer.

In an open invitation to all parents and to the public, Mrs. Winslow said: "Parents are urged to attend this semi-annual neighborhood affair to encourage their daughters in their Girl Scout activities. The stronger the parental support and participation, the stronger is our girl program and the more the girls benefit from their membership. The best program involves the wholehearted participation of the girls, their parents, the troop leaders, and a community sympathetic to wholesome youth programs."

$99 RACE

The nation's newest form of automobile racing makes its debut Saturday night at Saugus Stadium when the $99 claiming cars go into action. These cars are older model stock cars and may be claimed by anyone for $99 in cash at the conclusion of the racing program. The Saugus Stadium is just north of Newhall, and 12,000 seats go on sale at 6:30 p.m.

The Green Frog

TALKS AGAIN

AS WRITTEN IN 1956 BY

HAROLD F. ROBERTS

LATELY a lot of you good folks have been asking about me. You inquire, "How come ROBERTS MARKET is the 'Home of the Green Frog'?"

SO POP HAS given me the floor—or the puddle, you might say—in order to answer your questions.

HE SAYS THAT "He that tooteth not his own bazoo, the same shall not be footed!" Though I am a modest sort of guy, orders are orders, so here I go:

FOR 28 YEARS I have sat here on my pollywog posterior quietly directing the affairs of this growing business. Did I say 28 years? Well, I guess that is right, though I don't feel that old; which is probably because I am in my fourth incarnation, my present physical self being 15 years old and Mexican in origin. That it why I sometimes refer to myself as La Rana Verde—a pretty fancy name for a Green Frog, eh?

YOU SEE, Mom and Pop got into the vegetable business three years before I was hatched. While I am not an eavesdropper, I can't help but listen, can I? So I have reasoned that Mom and Pop tackled that kind of a job because the wolf was gnawing at the door and it looked like the best way to make a living in Sierra Madre at that time.

THE FACT THAT they eventually got to own a complete food market as big as my present home may have been luck—or it may have been due to plain hard work and long hours. Quien sabe?

YES, I KNOW I am supposed to be talking about myself; but I don't seem to be able to do that without talking about Mom and Pop.

FROM 1925 to 1928 they conducted their fruit and vegetable business as lessees in someone else's stores.

"WHEN THEY GOT THE IDEA of having a store all their own, they wanted something to distinguish their vegetable market from all the others. And what could be more appropriate than a GREEN FROG whose natural element is water and who would spray life-giving moisture on the crisp, garden-fresh products that Mom and Pop had come to love so well?

THAT'S WHERE I came in! Believe me, I was mighty proud sitting there on a lily pad in the beautiful wet stand Pop had built just for me! I had the responsibility of keeping all those fine vegetables crisp and tender. And I liked it!

THEN POP BUILT the rest of the store around me, sorta like a horse shoe. Truly I was the biggest frog in the puddle! This fine little store was located where HAPPY now holds forth.

TIME WENT ON. The little store up the street grew and grew until the walls were bulging and would no longer hold all the fruits and vegetables, to say nothing of the groceries and such that had been added to take care of our customers.

SO MOM AND POP moved into the present big store in 1931; and once again they put me right in the center of the market.

WELL, I SAT THERE—busy, alert and quiet—and supervised the whole business. But I must have done too good a job! Eventually the darn grocery business, meat business and all got so big that I was forced off my throne in the center of the store. They moved me into a separate vegetable department (all my own, though), and they gave me a long, gleaming, mirror-backed wet stand.

I NOW SIT HERE, still proudly, and direct the operations of this beautiful, one-stop food store.

MY SOMEWHAT ADVANCED AGE has taught me that this market is truly "on the square," and that low prices, high quality and friendly service will continue to build a business that will never know completion!

COME IN AND SEE ME SOMETIME!

WE ARE STILL small enough to know you and big enough to serve you!

Cheerfully yours,
 THE GREEN FROG

This is the year that I am glad I am not a fireman. According to all reports and warnings, this promises to be our most dangerous season in a good long time due to the drought-like conditions of the past winter. To add a serious note, it would be well to warn all children of the danger of snakes in the brush. Already they have started coming down out of the hills seeking water. This is something we usually expect along in August and September, certainly not in May.

The firemen are not alone in their dire predictions. The exterminators say, with a gleam of the dollar sign in their eyes, that we will undoubtedly be overrun by flying and crawling insects. Lawn moths will probably have a field day, flies, snails, etc. I have visions of fading away at the end of summer after an over-inhalation of various and sundry poisons that will be required to save our poor family from this dreadful onslaught. Poor butterfly!

MRS. T. L. GREINER of Claremea Lane has finally been liberated from the cast that held her left arm in place after a battle with a garden hose. She acquired quite a reputation for stamina when her friends learned that she took herself and her broken wing down to the doctor without any assistance.

Incidentally, both the Greiners had a wonderful time attending the recent Los Angeles Rotary Club party at Palm Springs. Mr. Greiner is the president-elect of the L.A. club and will be installed in July.

KATHLEEN SCHRAM, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schram of Mesita Road, celebrated her sixth birthday last Saturday. The guests were served luncheon and then taken to the new Walt Disney picture, "Shaggy Dog." The party included Dennis Fox, Margaret and Glenn Griffith, Susan Bandy, Cathy Hibbs and Carol and John Sramek.

NEW ON Barhite are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stoller and their four children. They have bought and moved into Dr. George Woodruff's home. The Woodruffs have moved out of the area temporarily, but I believe they still have plans to build up this way in the near future. The Stoller children are Guy, 4; Claudia, 9; Cathy, 11, and Carol, 14. Mrs. Stoller is tremendously active in the Girl Scouts and will be a Scout volunteer trainer next year. In addition to that, she is going to act as division chairman in this area for the Community Chest. Mr. Stoller, who incidentally recommends moving with a sprained ankle (you can supervise better that way), is a research engineer with the Jet Propulsion Laboratory. He was one of the engineers who worked on the radio telescope antenna located out of Goldstone. If you recall, this antenna tracked the first Army satellite.

HOME AFTER five glorious weeks of touring the Caribbean are the John Davidsons. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. Harold Hines, former Pasadena residents residing in Long Beach. They went down the coast, went down the coast, through the Panama Canal and on to Curacao on the Johnson Swedish freighter. From there they island hopped via plane which took them all the way to Caracas, Venezuela. They also stayed a week in Jamaica and Mrs. Davidson said the weather and the swimming was ideal. En route home they stopped off for a short stay in Florida while they saw the countryside there. All told their trip took five weeks.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Brownell have moved into their recently completed home at 3131 Mesa Los Lane. Hobbies at present—wooding! They have two children, Linda, 13, and Danny, 9.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Must you always refer to them as her 'first pair of high heels'?"

UP ON ...

Hastings Hill

It doesn't make us envious to read how the other half of one per cent lives, but it is enlightening. One new slick, sleek, chic magazine edition has many pages devoted to water, telling its readers, who feel dirtier by the paragraph, that waters are good for bathing and even for drinking.

But those clean editors don't just come right out and say that we should bathe in it and drink it. They say one sinks into water and restores oneself to serenity.

(Well, OK, so sink into the tub to restore yourself to serenity—so your tot gets up from his cat nap, lets the dog out, makes for the front yard, turns on the hose to restore his serenity, the phone rings, and the other child arrives from school yelling that the front door is locked, he can't get in and did anybody know that little Arthur is out in the front yard all wet and with his clothes off?)

These slick, sleek, chic editors go on to explain the various kinds of baths—medicinal, mud, hot, cold, in salon, spa, steam cabinets—that their rich and dirty readers can take, but their raves are all for the process known as the "Scotch Hose."

Well, this special special is given in a large windowless tiled room, and get this, "here you stand, like an ecstatic child on a lawn, while attendants play water from especially designed hoses upon you. One hose is gentle and warm, the other cool and biting, and at the end a rain of inescapable icy needles." They add that the afterglow lasts for hours.

Any afterglow we'd experience from this would be a combination of honest blushing, and the honest Scotch we'd had afterward to restore our sanity.

Wonder what those attendants think?

However, Hastings Ranchers have no bath problem. What with a pool in every third back yard.

Sorry to hear that Berry and Frances Senne are soon to leave their Riviera Drive home. Next month they take off for Akron, Ohio, where Berry has been transferred by his company. The Sennes are just completing a year of patient work as chairman of the Hastings Ranch Nursery School bridge tournament.

Reporting a beautiful spring vacation in New York City are Dick and Sherry McClain.

Doris and Walter Reuks and their two sons, Greg, 6, and Brad, 2½, recently purchased the Herb Chambers home, 1190 Rexford. They came to the Ranch all the way from Chicago. Herb and Eleanor, with their children, David, Dennis, Don and Kathy, bought a new home in Arcadia.

Hazel and Jim Gittinger

Their hobbies—wooding! Mr. Brownell is a ceramics engineer with North American Aviation—that is, when he isn't wooding!

Open House
Planned by New Bank

Final plans have been completed for the open house party to introduce Bank of America's newest Pasadena branch, at Foot-hill and Rosemead, to the residents of this area.

The opening will be held this evening (May 21) from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., according to Manager Kenneth R. Cequist. Refreshments, souvenirs, interesting displays, a "money missile" contest, and balloons for the kids are on the schedule along with tours of the new building.

Civic leaders will join with bank officials for opening ceremonies shortly before 7 p.m.

Cyrus Phillips, a well-known coin collector and lecturer, will show his unusual coin collection, "300 Years of American Coinage," which includes historic pieces such as the Pine Tree shilling and the Ben Franklin cent and other items dating back to the earliest American colonies.

The branch is the fourth in Pasadena and the 64th in the statewide system. It will open for business Friday, May 22, at 2701 E. Foot-hill Blvd.

Gas Co. A.I.D. Membership On Increase

For the sixth straight year, employees of Southern Counties Gas Co.'s San Gabriel Valley division have increased their membership in AID-United Givers, having hiked their participation in the one-donation plan in support of welfare activities to over 95 per cent in a just-concluded campaign.

This was the report yesterday of AID drive chairman Blaine Flegal. More than $6,000 was pledged to AID causes by the gas company's employees in this area. The utility's employees have been part of the AID program since 1953. At that time participation was 63 per cent.

Assisting Flegal in putting on the drive were George Korten, who served as campaign co-chairman, and committee members June Nichols, Jess Lambert, Helen Smith and Bill Anderson.

Much of the money donated by gas company employees is returned to charities in this area, Flegal said. Charities directly participating in AID include Community Chest and United Fund, American Red Cross, Multiple Sclerosis, American Cancer Society, Heart Association, City of Hope, Crippled Children's Society, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, and United Cerebral Palsy.

Vast School Of Barracuda Tours Coast

By Al Miyadi

A REPORT FROM YOUR VERY OWN CORRESPONDENT—Poor Mother. And he was such a good boy.

Sunday, the compulsive fisherman got the urge. And fishing widows wept.

For a good reason. The spectacularly evil-looking barracuda chose Mother's Day to stage the saltwater show of the century.

Millions of them. A tremendously vast school of fish that stretched for miles—from Dana Point to Paradise Cove.

And long before the day was over, Mother's bad boys, the feather merchants and jig-fingers, had chalked up a possible record count.

Over 15,000. Pierpoint's fleet led the parade (the most boats) with 2,517; Norm's Landing with 1,213; Santa Monica with 1,070, and so on.

And Paradise Cove, whose scooter streak (it was into its 54th day) was broken Thursday, bounced back with a whopping 1,292, an all-time mark for that landing.

And the marine biologists, happily enough, say, "You ain't seen nothing yet."

And Ma?

"You ain't seen nothing yet, either."

PARTICULARS—Jerry Wilson, Santa Monica Sportfishing skipper, hooked on cheek by jig-finger. . . Price war wraps up next week, the date itemed in this column.

Ignorance Often Cause Of Appendicitis Deaths

(Presented as a public service by the Foothill District of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn.)

Deaths from appendicitis have decreased steadily in recent years, but the disease is still common.

The appendix—a small, apparently useless organ—juts out from the beginning of the large intestine. It varies in length, ranging from two to three inches long, though rare specimens up to nine inches have been found. Normally located in the lower right forward part of the abdomen, it is sometimes displaced from its normal position and may be found nearer the back. When that occurs, the appendicitis patient complains of a back pain instead of the usual distress in the abdomen.

WHEN THE organ becomes inflamed, caused by the blocking of the appendix by foreign matter or by infection, there is pain, with nausea or vomiting. The pain may be dull or sharp, the abdomen is sensitive to touch, particularly over the appendiceal area, and the temperature rises. A white blood count shows a great increase in white blood cells, a condition which indicates infection.

Ignorance is responsible for many deaths from appendicitis. Because the pain and distress associated with the disease closely resemble the symptoms brought on by constipation, patients sometimes resort to laxatives. Laxatives increase peristalsis, the movement by which the contents of the intestine are moved along. This increased pressure may extend the swelling and cause rupture of the appendix, spreading the infection to the peritoneum, the lining of the abdominal cavity.

This condition, called peritonitis, is always dangerous, even though drugs such as the sulfonamides, penicillin and streptomycin have materially reduced the probability of death. If peritonitis occurs, however, the road to recovery is long, because of the rapidity with which the infection spreads throughout the system.

BECAUSE MODERN surgery has yielded improved techniques, the operation to remove the appendix is now done with great safety. Indeed, if it is performed early when the symptoms are mild and before complications set in, the patient is frequently walking about the second or third day and back at home within a week.

Prevention of disease is the important factor in its control. While there is no way to prevent appendicitis, serious complications can be averted if the physician is called immediately on the appearance of mild symptoms of gastro-intestinal discomfort, soreness of the abdomen or pain, whether it be sharp or dull. It is not wise to ignore recurrent attacks, because the irritation produced by each leaves the appendix more susceptible to the final "blow-up" which may result in death.

Some persons may live through life without an attack of appendicitis. Others may develop the condition in childhood.

THE FIRST thing to do is call your physician when severe pains appear in the lower right quadrant of the abdomen. Let him decide what the trouble is and what to do about it. Do not take laxatives or cathartics. Do not swallow anything except water until you have consulted a physician.

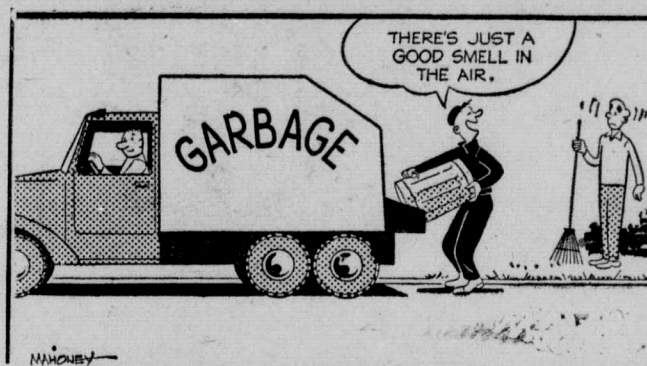

If your physician decides that surgery is essential, trust him. Ignoring his advice may cost you your life. Once the appendix bursts, the damage caused by spreading infection is more difficult to repair.

Summer-Blooming Shrubs Seldom Seen in Southland

Summer-blooming shrubs are too seldom seen in California gardens. And just why remains a mystery. Perhaps, through habit, the season calls for annuals and perennials with a few familiar shrubs such as Fuchsias and Hydrangeas thrown in. More likely, it is just that summer-blooming shrubs get less attention than their publicized counterparts of spring.

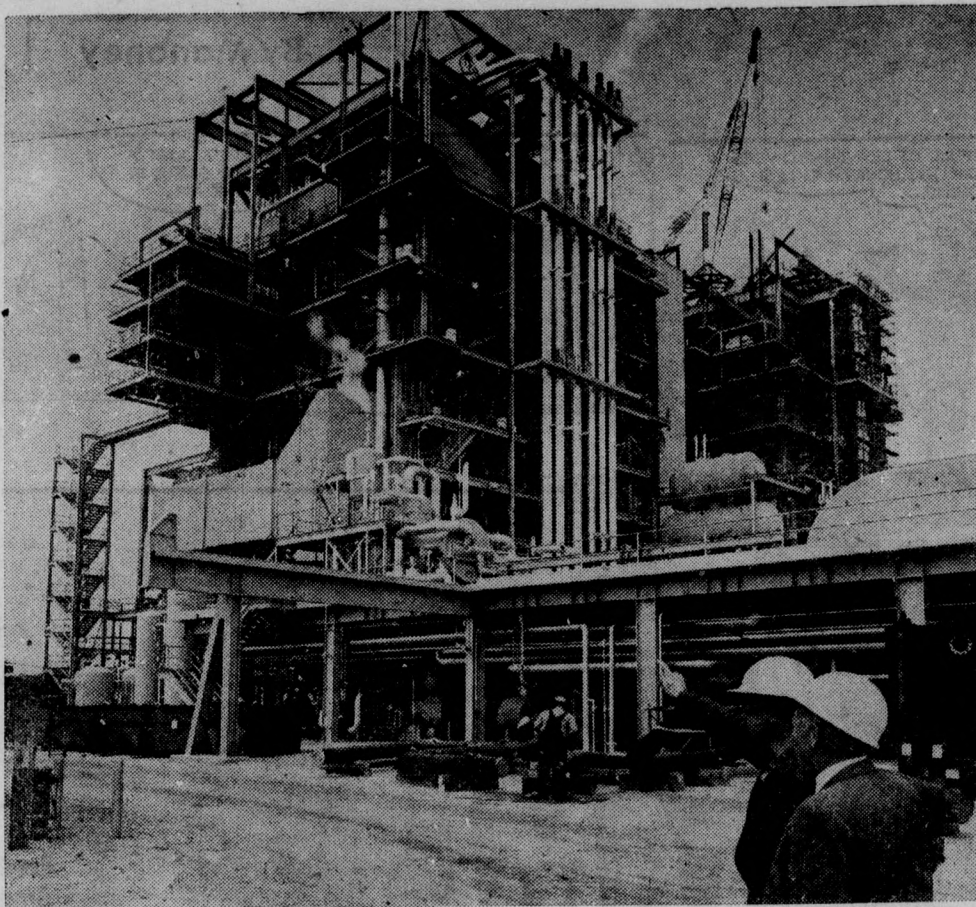

This fails to give credit where credit is due. Annuals and perennials are fine, as are Fuchsias and Hydrangeas, but it leaves too many good shrubs out in the cold each summer—shrubs that can give color for months on end.

TAKE GLOSSY ABELIA, for instance. This handsome evergreen is never unattractive even out of bloom. And in summer it is loaded with bell-shaped flowers that exude a wonderful fragrance.

Dwarfer and contrasting with Glossy Abelia—since its foliage is silvery gray—is the little-known Bush Morning Glory. The California Association of Nurserymen ranks Bush Morning Glory high on the list for its compact habit, pleasant foliage and white morning glory shaped blooms in late spring and summer.

Another good one that's seldom seen is the Red Bottle Brush, interesting both for its graceful growth and the summer-long display of red blooms that definitely resemble a bottle brush. You can't miss it, if and when you see it.

THE SHRUBBY new Lantanas are good not only in Southern California, but brilliant and colorful in northern gardens as well. Gardenias are worth growing for a year's bloom even where frost threatens in winter. Oleanders should never be far out of sight where weather is warm enough to bring out the best in them. These are but a few of the summer color bearers. For massed bloom they may fall short of annuals and perennials; but, most of them show resistance to drought and combined with their color, this makes them nice when vacation rolls around.

MORE ELECTRIC POWER for Californians is now being produced at Southern California Edison Co.'s new Mandalay Steam Station, near Oxnard in Ventura County. The first 200,000-kilowatt capacity unit of this steam electric generating plant has just been placed in commercial operation and is now delivering electricity to Southern and Central California. When a second, "twin" unit is completed next fall, this station will represent an Edison Co. investment of about $56,000,000.

Progress Report . . .

Brown Sees Support of Statewide Water Program

Gov. Edmund G. Brown moved this week to win legislative approval of his compromise proposal for a statewide water development program.

Gov. Brown estimated that "more than 23" members of the State Senate will support the water program as a result of new amendments to the proposal now before the group.

In five separate actions, he pointed up the urgent necessity for the program to assure California's future growth, the economic benefit each area will derive from the program and the legal support for his compromise.

ONLY 21 VOTES are required for approval in the Senate, which has been the stumbling block in previous efforts to break the long water stalemate. No difficulty is anticipated in the Assembly.

Latest action by the governor to reconcile North-South differences over the program took the form of "full support" for amendment to a $1½ billion bond issue bill.

The bond issue bill dedicated revenues from the water project to payment of the bonds, guaranteed the sanctity of water contracts under the project and earmarked $130 million for local projects, mostly in northern mountain counties.

Northern senators, however, expressed fear the sum was not enough.

THE NEW amendments to the bond issue bill would overcome this objection by making additional funds available for local projects not now specified in the bill and more firmly committing the Investment Fund, now the California Water Fund, to such purposes.

This would include, in addition to works already mentioned in the bill, the multipurpose reservoirs in the North Coastal area and other areas as the Legislature authorizes.

It is estimated that as much as $400 million may be available for this purpose between now and 1985.

the Legislature and the voters:

1. Northern California, including the Bay Area, but excluding the Sacramento Valley, $215,528,000.
2. Sacramento Valley, including the Delta area, $441,487,000.
3. San Joaquin Valley, $521,513,000.
4. Central coastal area, San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara Counties, $81,034,000.
5. Southern California, including Ventura area to San Diego and inland areas, $687,100,000.

Are All Tube Prices the Same?

Television tubes are somewhat the same in this instance as compared to the products that you buy in the grocery store or the department store or the department store. Tubes like most other products vary considerably in QUALITY and thereby the price would vary in accordance to the quality. The majority of television stores deal in quality work and quality parts thereby causing their parts bill and their labor bill to be somewhat higher. Some shops operate by selling the cheapest parts and giving the cheapest labor and doing the least amount of work necessary.

Neither shop is wrong whereas they both cater to different kind of customers. Some customers buy the price and not the item and they will purchase from the shop which sells price. Some customers want their set fixed with the best parts and with the best of skill thereby having their set perform much better and last longer.

It all boils down to the one ultimate item and that is "you get what you paid for." About 80% of your television troubles occur in the tubes therefore it is generally known the tubes are the set. Major concern therefore should be taken in replacement of these tubes. Most manufacturers make various grades of tubes and sell various grades of tubes. Television repairmen can choose what ever grade he chooses to sell. It is the policy of the shop listed below to sell the best tubes that can be purchased and give the best service available using the latest equipment. If you want less than top quality tubes and service don't call this shop but if you should consider your television set an investment rather than something to gamble with call this associated shop—
